

The Feol-Hinricher Companies

(An Overview)

The Feol – Hinricher Companies(<http://fhcompanies.com>) was founded with one principle in mind – to source and find fantastic real estate deals in emerging markets that offer great value to investors for each dollar they spend. The company, headed by two full – time real estate investors(Robert Feol and Ryan Hinricher) provides investment opportunities that emulate portfolios the co - founders themselves have. They believe that in order to sell properties, you must actually own those exact types of properties, and truly have 'skin in the game.'

Most of the company's investments focus on the domestic United States market. The Feol – Hinricher Companies tend to look for highly discounted, emerging cash flow markets. The founders are extremely conservative when it comes to making investments and their belief is that in today's uncertain market, speculating on appreciation is equivalent to gambling. They would rather purchase opportunities that provide monthly returns, and in doing so see short term rewards coupled with long term financial gains and substantial tax benefits.

The company also offers(to qualified investors) international investment opportunities in luxury preconstruction. The founders hold a portfolio of properties in Panama, and are also looking very closely at other emerging markets such as Costa Rica, Belize, Uruguay, and Columbia. Through strategic relationships with some of Donald Trump's top brokers, The Feol – Hinricher Companies are able to offer Trump luxury international properties in many global locations.

With an equity stake in IT Niche(<http://itniche.com>), The Feol – Hinricher Companies are pioneers in internet marketing within the investment real estate world. Having sold over 330 properties in the past 24 months as a small two man operation, The Feol – Hinricher Companies are setting a new standard for how wholesale real estate is being transacted. Both Ryan Hinricher and Robert Feol are in demand as motivational speakers, authors, and educators on how real estate investing can become a lucrative full – time career or profitable part – time passion for people of all walks of life.
